GVM Selects Simpson Farm Enterprises for Sales and Service

East Berlin, PA (USA) – January 7, 2016 – GVM is proud to announce the addition of Simpson Farm Enterprises, Inc. to its expanding dealer network. As a large and well respected sprayer dealer, Simpson stood out far from the rest during the selection process of possible dealers for GVM’s latest product, the Mako.

GVM’s President and Owner, Mark Anderson, believes that Simpson was an obvious first choice.

“During the early stages, I knew exactly what I had in mind for the future of the Mako sprayer and Simpson fills GVM’s vision,” Anderson states. “I believe they will be a huge asset to our connections in Kansas and Colorado.”

Simpson is headquartered in Hays, Kansas and has three additional store locations in Beloit, Great Bend, and Ransom. In addition to the distribution of the Mako, Simpson will also function as a service facility for the full line of GVM equipment and handle both warranty and non-warranty service leads.

The GVM Mako 400HC is the smallest self-propelled sprayer in the marketplace. It was designed for farmers and applicators looking for a light footprint who need to get in the field early, regardless of soil moisture. Small, stable, and nimble, the Mako features a 400 gallon product tank with multiple boom options, 46 inches of crop clearance, a light footprint, and a tight turning radius. Powered by the powerful

Tier 3 Cummins 130 horsepower engine mated to an Allison 5-speed transmission, the Mako is strong and reliable and backed by one of the best warranties in the industry. It is simple enough for first time applicators, yet smart enough for pros. The Mako is the perfect replacement for small sprayers in the industry as the product includes multiple advancements descended from the AGCO SpraCoupe. The Mako is also a great option for those upgrading from pull-type sprayers.
